DON'T WAIT TO ORDER SEED

Demand for ladino clover seed has kept pace with increased production, and farmers who wait any longer to order may be disappointed.

W. W. Lewis, associate agronomist at V. P. I., says despite a big increase in ladino seed production last year the over-all supply situation has not improved.

Information from USDA and other sources, indicates 1950 supplies of seed of the main legumes and grasses used in Virginia are generally good.

Lewis listed red clover produced in Virginia and nearby states as a possible exception, although he added that the opinion of most seedsmen is that the supply will be adequate.

As for hybrid corn—37 per cent more acreage in Virginia was devoted to growing hybrid seed last year than in 1948. There were 1,890 acres of corn hybrid seed certified in Virginia in 1949, compared to 1,383 acres in 1948.

LADINO NEEDS A HELPER
FOR MIDSUMMER GRAZING

Ladino clover needs a helper in dry, hot weather when it comes to providing grazing for livestock.

Ladino will not make much growth in such weather because of its shallow root system.

So Extension Service agronomists at V. P. I. suggest seeding 20 to 25 pound of lespedeza per acre on small grain plantings anytime from now until about March 15. The lespedeza, an excellent supplementary mid-summer pasture, will have desirable growth by the time ladino slumps.

Eight to 10 pounds of orchard grass per acre may be added to the lespedeza for lusher growth.

A TWO MILLION DOLLAR BANK

The Ground Hog's reflection on February 2nd. was merely a frightening shadow, but on February 3rd, our books reflected a substancial, well balanced statement, here presented for your information.

Statement of Condition

February 3, 1950

Those figures represent many interesting facts, perhaps some one or more of them concerns you in a very material way. You may be struggling to repay a loan. There is no such thing as an easy payment plan.) You may be one that has accumulated a substancial SAVINGS ACCOUNT whereby you have denied yourself some of the usual pleasures for that well earned sense of security. (That which you earned and did NOT expect some governmental agency to give you as a hand-out.) Or still further you may be operating a business, which could mean anything from running a CHECKING ACCOUNT, your silent Secretary, for if you use it to its fullest extent you have a complete record of all income and expenses. (And in addition to your cancelled check, which is the best receipt, in case you should lose or misplace it, we will gladly reproduce without cost a Photostatic Copy.)

The growth and progress of your bank simply reflects the accumulated efforts of yourself and your neighbors. It means "that you have not let the grass grow under your feet" or else you have helped it grow in the right places. In appreciation of your patronage and with pride in your progress we want you to feel that your bank stands ready, willing, and anxious to serve you and your neighbor in any way possible, so long as the requested service is in line with proper and accepted sound banking principles, ultimately resulting in the mutual benefit of all parties concerned.

It is our purpose to always serve you in a manner that will not merely satisfy your minimum expectations, but in such a way that you will invite your friends to join you in your financial home. In furtherance of this desire, we will welcome at all ttimes any and all suggestions toward improving and enlarging our services to you.

We are most appreciative of the accounts we are now serving, approximately 4,300, although we are hopeful of many more for anyone who handles any money can conveniently use and needs a bank account. So to our customers we say in all sincerity, use your account freely; and to those we are not serving, we extend a cordial invitation to open YOUR ACCOUNT. The amount is of little concern, for whether large or small, each account is accorded the same consideration.

Don't Forget -- A CHECKING ACCOUNT helps you locate most of your INCOME TAX EXEMPTIONS.
